

Kinguist Privacy Policy

The app is not intended for children, and does not knowingly collect data related to children.

Your username will be public and cannot be changed later – please don't include any sensitive data in your username.

Any content (including images) you upload to the app will be made public via the app and on the internet – you agree to this by uploading content to the app. If you allow us access to your camera or gallery, we will only use this for the purpose immediately shown in the app – such as to upload an avatar for your profile, or to attach an image to a pack slide or question.

We may collect information about your device and app activity (such as, but not limited to, crash logs and device model) for the purpose of improving the app.

The Kin Android SDK is integrated within our app, and may collect further data. By using the app, you agree to the way that Kin may collect your data to provide their service.

We're happy to comply with any reasonable requests relating to privacy, particularly those related to GDPR. Additionally, if you feel anything is unclear or absent in our privacy policy, please don't make any assumptions – send us an email at kinguist@cherb.co.uk
